

“Take me out to the ballgame...”

Please join Out & Equal Houston as we celebrate Houston’s LGBT Community on July 10th with “Pride in the Park”.

The Houston Astros will be playing the St. Louis Cardinals – one of the weekend’s more exciting match-ups leading to the 2010 All-Star Game.

The Pride in the Park organizers are planning a great program including our very own Bayou City Chorale singing the National Anthem, and Mayor Annise Parker throwing the opening pitch at this historical baseball game.

As part of the celebration, the organizers have dedicated this as a fundraiser for Houston’s LGBT community, with proceeds from every ticket purchased through a special web-site coming back to our community.¹ The 2010 community beneficiaries are:

- Bayou City Performing Arts
- Bering Omega Community Services
- Bunnies on the Bayou
- Legacy Health Community
- Out and Equal Houston
- PFLAG
- Pride Houston
