

Plenary II

Thursday, October 8
8:00 am – 9:30 am

Jonathan Capehart

Jonathan Capehart is an editorial page writer for The Washington Post, where he has worked since 2007. Before joining The Post, he worked from 1993 to 2000 as an editorial writer for the New York Daily News, where he was part of the editorial board team that won the 1999 Pulitzer Prize for editorial writing for a series on the Apollo Theater in Harlem. From 2000 to 2001, he worked as a national affairs columnist for Bloomberg News, leaving his position to work as a policy adviser to Michael Bloomberg's campaign for New York City mayor. He returned to the Daily News as deputy editor of the editorial page from 2002 to 2005.